IS THIS COURSE RIGHT FOR ME?

Before you choose this course, it's a good idea to think about the skills and knowledge you might need. The information below will help you decide if the course is a good fit for you, or if there are areas where you might need some extra support.

Information you need to know about the course

CRTAFE offers this qualification for mature aged learners and school leavers (minimum 16 years old when the AMSA certificate is issued) who want to work as chief engineer on vessels with an inboard engine under 750 kilowatts propulsion power and an outboard engine with any propulsion power. This qualification is designed for individuals who wish to re-enter the workforce, wishing to change their career path or gain formal qualifications and people re-skilling.

The blended delivery model—combining online written assessments with face-to-face training—provides flexibility for participants to complete theory components at their own pace while still gaining vital hands-on experience, making it an accessible and effective option for a wide range of learners.

Learners must have adequate literacy, numeracy and digital skills. They are expected to operate a computer, navigate Microsoft TEAMS, read and write in English, and perform both basic and advanced numeracy tasks in a classroom setting, on board a vessel and independently.

Students must also be able to complete all practical components of the course. These involve working with inboard engines in confined spaces and participating in vessel-based activities outdoors, which can involve exposure to heat, cold and sunlight.

Learners must demonstrate a range of water-based competencies, including but not limited to:

- Staying afloat without a lifejacket for at least 5 minutes
- Donning a lifejacket in the water and then:
 - Assisting another person to put one on
 - Maintaining the HELP position for 5 minutes
 - Holding a group huddle for 10 minutes
 - Swimming in a group conga line for 50 metres
 - Swimming 50 metres while wearing a lifejacket

- Towing another person for 25 metres while wearing a lifejacket
- Entering and exiting a life raft in water

Additional requirements include flare demonstrations and the correct use of fire extinguishers and fire blankets.

To apply for AMSA certification, students must accumulate the required sea service days on a commercial; these are not accrued during the course. Learners have one year after completing the AMPA at the end of the practical block to submit their AMSA application with all required sea service time.

For this course, LLND needs will be reviewed when concerns are raised by the student or parent. The review will include an informal interview with the Lecturer to develop an individualised approach for each student.
